

Mission

The Institute Goša attains its mission by a maximum effort of its top management, expert teams and all those engaged in the tasks of the research, development and providing the core activity services, in order to fulfill the users' expectations and to meet the needs of the services users and other parties interested in the same.

The Institute Goša is a scientific-research organization dealing with the scientific-research, development, educational and applicable work in the field of the technical, technological and natural sciences.

With its personnel potential, equipment and technical means available to it, maximum efforts of the professional multidisciplinary and flexible teams, the Institute Goša has the capacity to provide the services in the domain of its activities.

For that reason the Institute Goša permanently involves itself in the improvement of the knowledge and skills of its personnel as well as in the development and improvement of the existing technologies and equipment along with a continuous cooperation with the Ministries and other scientific-research institutions, faculties and economy.

Vision

The vision of the Institute Gosa is,

- to become internationally recognizable in the domain of its activities;
- to develop innovative technologies through high quality researches and to transfer them in the industrial sector;
- to develop new models which integrate research, education and innovations in the domain of the academic-industrial researches;
- to promote high technologies in the national and international sphere;
- to be the best in the country in the domain of its activity;
- to be the best or in the company of the best ones in the domain of its activity.

Strategy

To attain its vision, the Strategy of the Institute Goša d.o.o. has been based upon:

- a firm positioning of the Institute as a research development organization, with its personnel and financial standing, taking into account successful development and market oriented business operations
- a continual development of new methods and technologies for the services providing and improvement of the existing ones
- an active cooperation with the related institutes, faculties and professional associations in the country and abroad
- an active participation in the national institutions and forums dealing with the application of the services in question and education of personnel
- a permanent follow up and application of the up-to-date world achievements in the field of welding and tests without destruction, as well as in the field of the transfer of methodology, aimed at the attainment of the highest professional standards at the market
- a continual development of knowledge and competences of the employees for the providing of the services in question
- a permanent improvement of capacity of all processes of business operations